

Getting Settled

Studying and Living in Thailand

We estimate that if for a person living as a single, $ 6,000 - $ 8,400 per year is required to cover living expenses in Bangkok, Thailand. Depending on your lifestyle, this amount may be sufficient to cover accommodation, food, transportation, clothing, stationery, entertainment, telephone, electricity and other incidental expenses. Your tuition fee, uniforms, equipment, excursions and field trips are additional.

Health Insurance

It is a requirement that you have health insurance covered during your stay in Thailand. All international students must have an adequate health insurance throughout the periods of enrollment. After enrolling with DTC, International Student Services Department will assist you in applying a long-term Health Insurance. You can find more information about long-term Health Insurance by visiting www.bupa.co.th

Accommodation

DTC does not provide on-campus accommodation but can facilitate short term accommodation placements for new international students. The institute can also provide referrals to a number of private organizations that specialize in providing long term accommodation placement services.
